THE MORNING'S NEWS.

WASHINGTON.

The Republicans and the Apportionment Bill.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 17.—The cause of an agreement by the Republicans to unite upon 325 as the number of the House was the absence of members to such an extent that they were left without a quorum. It had been intended to stand for 320 or 322 till it was discovered that the Democrats would filibuster against it. It was then decided to negotiate, and the South Carolina and Texas Democrats were seen and their services were enlisted to carry through 325. A caucus was held yesterday and the Republicans agreed to the number. Speaker Keifer was put on his guard and the decision against Cox's modified amendment provided so that the first vote would come on 325. It was feared that if 319 was voted upon first that some of the Republicans, as well as the Democrats, might vote for it and carry it. The Speaker's ruling against Cox threw Anderson's 325 amendment first, and this circumstance made sure the successful carrying out of his program. It is due to the country to know that the absence of Republicans prevented the majority from pressing the best number, which would have been 322.

The Clark Armor.

The House Naval Affairs Committee with several naval officers of high rank visited Past Assistant Engineer Clark at his residence this morning and had explained to them his system of deflective armor. Mr. Clark suffers from an affection of his spine which has kept him bedridden for years, but he has occupied his mind perfecting this method of armor for ships of war, and the navy officers are inclined to look upon it with favor. The principle is not new, but some of the applications are very ingenious. If the committee recommend any armored ships, it is likely that they will suggest that the Clark system be employed.

Insult to the Jubilee Singers.

Much indignation is felt at the refusal by all the hotels of the city to accommodate the Fisk Jubilee Singers on their arrival last Wednesday night. They had engaged quarters in one of the hotels, but the proprietor subsequently changed his mind, and on their arrival refused to admit them. This obliged them to seek lodgings elsewhere, and they went to all the hotels in town in vain. Finally, after midnight, they engaged rooms in two colored boarding-houses. In many cases the excuse given was bona-fide, as all the leading hotels are full to overflowing. Three hotels, however, put the refusal frankly on the ground of color. Yesterday they engaged rooms at the St. James Hotel, where most of the troupe are at present.

At the close of their concert last night the Rev. Dr. Raukin made a statement of their difficulties, and was followed by Frederick Douglass and Mr. Landin, of the troupe, on the same subject. Mr. Landin said that when they were denied admittance a few months ago to the hotels in Springfield, Ill., President Garfield telegraphed them that if they ever had any trouble of the sort to come at once to the White House, where they would always be welcome. As they were wandering about town on Wednesday night seeking food and shelter they were forcibly reminded of this hospitable invitation and the horrible tragedy which had silenced that kindly voice.

Nominations.

The President sent the following nominations to the Senate today:—

Wakefield G. Frye, of Maine, to be United States Consul General at Halifax; Horatio N. Beach, of New York, Consul at Puerto Cabello, Venezuela.

John A. Caldwell, Assistant Appraiser of Customs, Philadelphia.

Collectors of Customs:—John A. P. Allen for the district of New Bedford, Mass.; Cornelius B. Marchant for the district of Edgartown, Mass.; Augustus Putnam for the district of Middletown, Conn.; Henry F. Heriot for the district of Georgetown, S. C.

Lieut. Col. James E. Akin to be Colonel and Assistant Quartermaster General; Major James G. Dana to be Lieutenant Colonel and Deputy Quartermaster General; Capt. Andrew J. McGonnigle to be Major and Quartermaster.

Postal Savings Banks.

The house committee on postoffices and post roads had under consideration today the postal savings bank bill, which had been printed, and recommitted to the committee. After some trivial verbal amendments the bill was adopted and Representative Lacey was instructed to report it to the House with a recommendation for its passage.

The Fitz John Porter Case.

All the members of the Cabinet were present at the meeting today. The Fitz John Porter case was again under consideration, with a view to his possible reinstatement in the army, but no conclusion was reached. It is stated that the only legal way to afford the desired redress in this case is for the President to pardon General Porter, thus removing his present disqualifications from holding office in the service of the United States, and then restore him to his former place in the army by nomination to the Senate.

FOREIGN.

Russian Inhumanity.

LONDON, Feb. 17.—A Vienna despatch says that fresh anti-Jewish disturbances are reported in the government of Kieff. The military Governor-General, Count Tottchen, declined to interfere without special instructions from St. Petersburg, a refusal which has produced a painful impression among the orderly population.

The Durham Colliery Explosion.

LONDON, Feb. 18.—Forty bodies have been recovered from the colliery at Trimdon Grange, Durham, where the explosion occurred yesterday. It is feared that the forty men, still remaining in the pit, are dead.

Irish Matters.

LONDON, Feb. 17.—In the House of Commons this afternoon, speaking in reference to the report that the government was about to withdraw police protection from the property-defencemen, Mr. Forster stated that while the government would afford every protection to caretakers it must be allowed to judge as to means, and to decide each case on its merits. He believed the object would be best attained by a good system of patrolling. It was impossible to give each caretaker a guard of police.

LONDON, Feb. 17.—In the House of Lords this evening the government strongly opposed the motion of the Earl of Donoughmore for the appointment of a select committee to inquire into the working of the recent legislation in reference to land in Ireland. Lord Selborne, Lord High Chancellor, spoke against the motion and said he would continue to oppose it throughout the session. He maintained that any interruption in the working of the land act would be unwise and mischievous.

An Extraordinary Declaration from Gen. Skobeleff.

PARIS, Feb. 17.—The Journal de France says:—Gen. Skobeleff, receiving some Servian students, said Russia had hitherto been held in check by a certain foreign influence, namely, that of Germany. "The sword," he said, "was the only means the Russians had of ridding themselves of the incubus." He declared a struggle between the Slavs and Teutons was inevitable, and that it would be long, sanguinary and terrible, but that the Slavs would triumph. Gen. Skobeleff concluded as follows:—"If any one attempts to molest states recognized by treaties, thank Heaven you will not be alone. If fate so decides, we shall meet again on the battle-field, side by side, against the common foe."

Mrs. Garfield and the Assassin.

CLEVELAND, Feb. 17.—J. H. Rhodes, secretary of the Garfield monument committee, said today that Mrs. Garfield received a letter from Mrs. Scoville this morning, and that he was authorized in her behalf to say that toward the slayer of her husband she cherishes no malice; he must answer only to his God and the American people. For the sister and all members of his family she feels only profound pity. Further than this, she asks to be left alone with her sorrow, and to be spared being dragged into useless and torturing publicity. Mrs. Garfield will not answer the letter.

Silas W. Snow, publisher of the New Bedford Evening News, having been detected in numerous forgeries, unsuccessfully attempted suicide with chloroform at Mattapoisett, Thursday night or Friday morning. His father has paid the forged notes.

DR. FRAZIER'S ROOT BITTERS.

The above wonderful medicine is, as its name indicates, strictly a Bitters or Blood Cleanser, made from roots, combined with herbs and plants, such as are found in Nature's garden. I first used Dr. Frazier's Root Bitters myself for weakness of the lungs, catarrh and scrofula in the system, which broke out in pimples and blotches, and after doctoring with physicians and trying advertised medicines (including Sozodont) without finding relief my discovery effected a complete cure. Frazier's Root Bitters are not a dram shop whiskey beverage, but are strictly medical in every sense. They act strongly upon the liver and kidneys, keep the bowels open and regular, make the weak strong, heal the lungs, build up the nerves and cleanse the blood and system of every impurity. For dizziness, rush of blood to the head tending to apoplexy, dyspepsia, fever and ague, dropsy, pimples and blotches, scrofulous humors and sores, tetter ring worm, white swelling, erysipelas, sore eyes and for young men suffering from weakness or debility caused from imprudence and to females in delicate health, Frazier's Root Bitters are especially recommended.

Dr. Frazier: I have used two bottles of your Root Bitters for dyspepsia, dizziness, weakness and kidney disease, and they did me more good than the doctors and all the medicine I ever used. From the first dose I took I began to mend, and I am now in perfect health, and feel as well as ever I did. I consider your medicine one of the greatest of blessings. MRS. M. MARTIN, Cleveland, O.

THE PERUVIAN SCANDAL.

The Shipherd Correspondence Submitted to Congress by the President.

The Names of Two-Thirds of the Great Capitalists of the Country Mentioned.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 17.—In response to the House resolution recently adopted, the President today transmitted to the House a letter from the Secretary of State, accompanied by a mass of documents concerning the correspondence in regard to the Peruvian Company.

The Secretary says complete transcripts of the letters referred to in the resolution by names and dates, and other letters already communicated, from which names of persons and firms have been omitted, are herewith returned together with the list of the same; that the only reply on file in this Department to the said letters of Jacob R. Shipherd is dated December 17, 1881, and is herewith returned. Measures were taken to recover letters declared to be missing from the files and archives of the department, and a request for similar searches was made to all persons connected or formerly connected with the department, into whose possession said letters might have come in the course of business. It is believed that in all cases when such requests were made, searches were made which proved to be fruitless. The search in the department, as has already been reported, was equally fruitless.

In a letter from Mr. Shipherd to Minister Hurlbut, dated New York, June 2d, 1881, Mr. Shipherd says:—

"Among representative gentlemen with whom I have already or shall soon be in confidential negotiation in the premises, I may name such as these:—E. D. Morgan, Wm. E. Dodge, Hugh McCulloch, Norvin Green, W. R. Garrison, A. Belmont, S. B. Chittenden, John Hay, Amasa Stone, Wm. H. Vanderbilt, John Sherman, Eugene Hale, Murat Halstead, Whitelaw Reid, Fisk & Hatch, Samuel Sloan, Marshall Jewell, H. L. Dawes, S. D. Babcock, John A. Stewart, Jay Cooke, Evarts, Southmayd & Choate, U. S. Grant, A. A. Law, J. H. Wade, H. B. Payne, Horace White, David Davis & Co., Joseph Medill, H. B. Hyde, A. S. Hewett, W. L. Scott, J. D. Cameron, Howard Crosby, Hobson, Hurtado & Co., Sydney Dillon, Morton, Bliss & Co., H. B. Claflin, A. S. Barnes, Henry Hilton, J. & W. Seligman & Co., M. K. Jessup & Co., Drexel, Morgan & Co., Wm. W. Astor, Horace T. Caswell."

October 27th, Mr. Shipherd, writing to Minister Hurlbut, says:—

Our staff counsel, including such representative and various men as Governor Boutwell, Senator Eaton, Senator Conkling, Collector Robertson, ex-Congressman Lord and Senator Blair, are absolutely agreed on this, as on every other point material to the pending issues, and the most radical suggestions of policy have the hearty autograph approval of Gen. Grant, who is now one of us. The significance of all this you need no aid from me to estimate. * * * * When we first bought this little scheme we saw three markets for it, and of these three Chili was not the least promising. Of the merits of the original quarrel we know nothing and care nothing. Peru is the under dog, and our sympathies lie with her. There are strong reasons why we should prefer to deal with her, otherwise, we should not make her the first offer. I will not dwell on this point. Mr. Calderon can follow it out for himself. If Mr. Calderon wishes speed he can have it. We are ready whenever he is ready. The moment he cables me proper assurance, he will hear me responding like an echo. My telegraphic address, cable, is 'Jacket, New York.' It might be better still for you to cable Mr. Blaine in cipher."

Nov. 15th, Mr. Shipherd writes to Minister Hurlbut:—

"Sir—Senator Blair writes me that Hurlbut telegraphs that the Chilians have captured Calderon and carried him to Chili. The Senator adds there may be trouble now. Have Gen. Grant do his duty. American influence in America is at an end if Chili can slap our faces as flatly as this. We have also heard by cable of Montero's acceptance. I shall consult Gen. Grant today, and he and I may go to Washington on Thursday. We shall do what lies in our power to second all the vigor you have used on the main issue.

THE CHESTER EXPLOSION.

The Calamity Even Worse Than at First Supposed.

PHILADELPHIA, Feb. 17.—The latest reports from the Chester fire, place the number of killed at eighteen. The list of wounded is growing hourly.

CHESTER, Pa., Feb. 17.—Coroner Quinby at noon summoned a jury to investigate the cause of the explosion at the pyrotechnic works. Professor Jackson testified that he was surprised on being told of the explosion, as he considered the place safe. There was no powder in the room and the explosion must have originated from gas from the stove. The stars used for filling bomb-shells were the only things of an explosive character and they did not believe them to be explosive. Strong concussion will explode these stars. He then gave the chemical composition of the shells. The shells are globe-shaped, about six inches in diameter and contain about two pounds of stars. I think the explosion was caused by these. If the detonation had been of powder the roof would have been blown off, but these stars must have exploded with great force, as the walls of the building have been torn down. Probably ten pounds of these detonating stars were in the manufactory this morning.

Samuel W. Jackson, Jr., son of the proprietor, and partner, testified that there were two kegs of gunpowder in the magazine this morning, but they were removed during the fire. In one of the rooms of the building where the fire was there were five pounds of composition which would explode with the best line of gunpowder. In the same room was a number of stars kept in the boxes, but no dynamite in the place.

Condensed Telegrams.

Vienna, Austria, is threatened with a total failure of its water supply.

At noon Friday the Canadian House of Commons at Ottawa was suddenly filled with smoke and an alarm of fire was given, which caused considerable consternation. An examination was made, and it was found that the smoke was caused by a defective flue in the basement.

WONDERFUL INVENTIONS

Of the Nineteenth Century: The Magnetic Telegraph, the Telephone, and the Wonderful

"WILSONIA"

MAGNETIC

CLOTHING!

—AND—

Ladies' Corset.

The telegraph and telephone are wonderful inventions! But are no comparison to the health-giving and life-preserving "WILSONIA." The garments, when worn in sufficient quantities to cover the spine and nerve centres, according to directions, will cure all diseases that are curable. They will cure the worst cases of Catarrh ever known, and there is probably not a case of Paralysis but can be cured, if worn according to directions. All sensible men know that medicine will not cure paralysis, but the MAGNETIC CLOTHING will do it. It will also cure Rheumatism, Asthma, Bronchitis, Inflammation and Bleeding of the Lungs, Heart Disease, Albuminous Urine, Leucorrhœa or Whites, Gout, Varicose Veins, Congestion of the Kidneys, Spinal diseases, and all kinds of Female Weakness. Also a preventive as well as a cure for Pneumonia, and all contagious diseases, such as Small-pox, Scarlet Fever, Erysipelas, etc. There are now 2,000 people wearing these garments in New York, Brooklyn, Boston and Providence, and there are users of great minds, such as Peter Cooper, Thurlow Weed, Com. Garrison, Gen. Graham, and thousands of others.

There have been scores of these garments sold in this city in the last few weeks, and they are doing wonderful cures. Names and testimonials can be seen at this office.

MR. LILLIBRIDGE,

the agent for the city, was stricken down with paralysis, and for weeks in St. Luke's Hospital, New York, and the physicians pronounced his case entirely hopeless. Mr. Lillibridge put on the garments the 25th of June, 1881, and is today almost as well as he ever was. Send or call for a circular at the Principal Office for New England.

GOULD & SON,

NEWPORT DAILY NEWS AND THE NEWPORT JOURNAL.

The Newport Daily News is published every afternoon (Sundays excepted), at the News building, 187 Thames street, by Davis & Putnam.

The Newport Journal is published at the same office every Saturday morning and contains a selection of the best matter in the Daily, including editorial discussions of the topics of the week, literary miscellanies and at least one good story, and a complete and comprehensive summary of news,—local and general. The Journal is a large 36 column paper and contains a large amount of reading matter that is valuable to readers in town or country who desire a good Newport paper, but who do not take a daily from the city.

Complaints regarding the irregular or improper delivery of either paper should be sent to the office at once.

SUBSCRIPTION RATES.

The Daily News, $6 per annum, or 12 cents a week payable to carrier.

The Newport Journal will be sent to any address in the United States, postage paid, for $2 a year. A discount of 50 cents is made when the whole year is paid strictly in advance. These terms are invariable.

ADVERTISING RATES.

Ordinary advertisements, $1 a square, for the first insertion, and 25 cents for each continuance. Ten lines, or less, in this type, make a square. Advertisements in reading matter are charged for, at 50 per cent. extra and are subject to editorial revision. A discount on these rates is allowed on all advertisements ordered in the Daily for one week or longer.

Notices of births, marriages and funerals 50 cents each.

Yearly advertisers are limited to their immediate business, are guaranteed but five insertions a week and are allowed twenty-five changes a year.

The circulations of the News and Journal being necessarily distinct, an advertisement inserted in both papers will reach entirely different sets of readers. As further inducement for advertisers to use both News and Journal, a liberal discount on the combined rates is made.

PRINTING.

The News has four steam presses and is a large and well appointed job printing office. All orders for work in this department will be promptly filled, and at reasonable prices. The patronage of the public is respectfully solicited.

Newport Daily News.

SATURDAY, FEBRUARY 18, 1882.

Mr. George Milu, the Chicago atheistic clergyman, will probably know better some time. He is only 31 years old.

The hearing of the Senate Committee on Education on the Newport school petitions will be held Thursday, the 23d, at 12 o'clock M.

A strong effort is being made before the Connecticut Legislature to create a new county in that state with Waterbury as the county seat.

Some of the Tennessee papers are of the opinion that the people of that state can pay the state's debts if they want to, the Supreme Court's decision to the contrary notwithstanding.

The Rhode Island Electric Light Company with Henry Lippitt at the head has asked for incorporation at the hands of the General Assembly. Newport parties are moving in the same direction.

It is proposed in Boston to put labels on all the trees in the Common and Public Gardens. It is hard to conceive of anything in worse taste than this project. If one cannot enjoy the beauty of a tree without knowing its name he will not enjoy it in the proper sense with that knowledge.

The Atlantic Monthly for March has a poem entitled "On a great man whose mind is clouding." Without reading the poem, we are somehow reminded by it of the exclamation of a country lady on seeing the painting of "The Companions of Ulysses" at the Centennial exhibition:—"Well if that isn't an awful hit on Grant!"

The Iowa Senate is considering a bill to reduce the rate of interest in that state to 8 per cent. It has already been done in Illinois, but in most of the Western states 10 per cent. is still perfectly legal and is exacted of many debtors. Usury is often charged in the form of interest on interest past due, so that the rate paid by many Western farmers on the mortgages on their farms amounts to 14 or 15 per cent. It is no wonder that communistic or "greenback" doctrines—the term greenbackism covers a multitude of social as well as financial heresies—are popular in some parts of the West, although the embarrassed farmers have chiefly their own unthrift to thank for their condition.

The assurance of the entire sympathy of France with Mr. Blaine's action regarding Chili and Peru may have been very pleasant to Mr. Blaine, but we see no cause to regard it as anything greatly to be desired. Mr. Morton wrote to Mr. Blaine in August telling him that France was willing to join the United States in intervention between Chili and Peru. This offer Mr. Blaine declined, as he should have done. To participate with a foreign power in the regulation of an American affair would be contrary to our traditional policy. After this declination Mr. Morton wrote again assuring Mr. Blaine that President Grévy was willing to act with the United States if desired, "or leave the United States to proceed alone." This was very considerate on the part of President Grévy, but we should doubtless have proceeded alone without permission if we had desired.

The national Senate was in open session but a short time yesterday, and the only bill of public importance passed was one appropriating $140,000 for the improvement of the harbor of Galveston, Texas. A bill was introduced appropriating $1,125,000 for the improvement of the river and harbors of Louisiana. At the executive session several Presidential nominations were confirmed. The House perfected and finally passed the apportionment bill. It provides that from and after the 3d day of March, 1883, the House of Representatives shall be composed of 325 members, to be apportioned among the several states as follows:—

Alabama	8	Mississippi	7
Arkansas	5	Missouri	11
California	6	Nebraska	3
Colorado	1	Nevada	1
Connecticut	4	New Hampshire	2
Delaware	1	New Jersey	7
Florida	2	New York	34
Georgia	10	North Carolina	9
Illinois	20	Ohio	21
Indiana	13	Oregon	1
Iowa	11	Pennsylvania	28
Kansas	7	Rhode Island	2
Kentucky	11	South Carolina	7
Louisiana	6	Tennessee	10
Maine	4	Texas	11
Maryland	6	Vermont	2
Massachusetts	12	Virginia	10
Michigan	11	West Virginia	4
Minnesota	5	Wisconsin	9

Under this apportionment the states of Maine, New Hampshire and Vermont lose one representative each; the states of Rhode Island, Connecticut, New Jersey, Maryland, Delaware, Florida, Alabama, Louisiana, Tennessee, Indiana, Nevada, Colorado and Oregon have an unchanged representation; the states of Massachusetts, New York, Pennsylvania, Virginia, West Virginia, North Carolina, Georgia Mississippi, Kentucky, Missouri, Ohio, Illinois, Wisconsin and Arkansas gain one each; the states of South Carolina, Michigan, Minnesota, Iowa, Nebraska and California gain two each; Kansas gains four; and Texas five.

A MODERN MARVEL.

If the money which goes to pay the arrears of pensions were devoted to the payment of the national debt instead, it would wipe it out in twenty years. But besides paying these $1,400,000,000 of arrears, we propose to pay the debt too in about the same time. No such gigantic feat was ever before attempted by any nation, and no nation was ever before able to accomplish such a payment. The debt of England has gone on steadily increasing until it has reached enormous proportions. A proposition to pay it would cause the downfall of any English ministry. The payment of the French indemnity to Germany, the terrible "milliards," is often cited as a wonderful financial achievement, and it was in fact, but it should be remembered that the money was borrowed to pay it, though France was able to borrow it at 5 per cent. from her own people. The debt was not paid, but simply transferred from one debtor, the German Empire, to another, the French people.

THE PERUVIAN CORRESPONDENCE.

We are unable to find anything directly damaging in the Shipherd correspondence, yesterday transmitted to the House by President Arthur, except what is damaging to Shipherd himself. Shipherd names a long list of capitalists "with whom he is already or will soon be in confidential negotiations," but no responses from any of these gentlemen, among whom are some of the most reputable and conservative men of wealth in the country, are published. Among the names given in this correspondence is that of Marshall Jewell of Connecticut, and it is already known that Jewell promptly informed Shipherd, upon being applied to, that he could have nothing to do with his enterprise. Probably others in the list made the same response, and others doubtless made no response at all. Of course if letters were brought to light in which any of these gentlemen knowingly entered into the scheme, the intent of which was to "bulldoze" Chili and Peru through our government for the benefit of a ring of speculators in New York, a suspicious face would be put upon the matter as far as they are concerned. No taint appears as yet to attach to Secretary Blaine or Minister Hurlbut, though the latter seems to have allowed Shipherd to continue his correspondence with him much longer than he should. It was months after Shipherd had laid the whole scheme before him, and after Calderon, the Peruvian President upon whom the syndicate was relying for the consummation of the bargain, had been seized and taken to Chili, thus breaking up the whole project, that Mr. Hurlbut wrote to Mr. Shipherd forbidding him to communicate further with him. The statement of President Arthur shows that some of the papers connected with the affair are missing from the files of the department, and cannot be found. It is understood that among these papers are some letters from Minister Hurlbut to Shipherd. That these papers should be abstracted in this way is itself a serious scandal. Mr. Hurlbut owes it to his reputation to make the entire correspondence public from the copies of his own letters which he has undoubtedly preserved.

RELIGIOUS NOTES.

It is said that Col. Robert G. Ingersoll is afraid that his enemies will report his dying words falsely, and so he has arranged that a stenographer shall take them down verbatim.

In these days of dissolving religious views, it would do no harm to bear in mind the fact that a too free and emphatic denunciation of a faith once subscribed to is a possible reflection upon the denunciator.—[Boston Herald.

There is no type, says George MacDonald, so near the highest idea of relation to a God as that of a child to his mother. Her face is God, her bosom nature, her arms are Providence—all love—one love—to him an undivided bliss.

The Rev. George C. Miln, of Chicago, has been invited to address the New York Society for Ethical Culture (Professor Felix Adler's) tomorrow. In an interview with a reporter the other day Mr. Miln said that he has some thoughts of starting a similar society in Chicago.

"Camp-meeting John Allen," who has received his sobriquet from the fact of his having attended 322 camp-meetings, is now eighty-seven years of age, but as vigorous in mind and body as a man at sixty. He was recently requested to deliver a lecture which he had prepared, entitled "Reminiscences of My Life," before the Legislature in Maine, of which he was chaplain.

Bishop William May Wightman, of the Methodist Episcopal Church South, who died in Charleston, S. C., on Tuesday was licensed to preach in 1827, and was successively a professor in Randolph, Macon College, Virginia, editor of the Southern Christian Advocate, president of the Wofford College, South Carolina, and Chancellor of the Southern University at Greensboro', Alabama.

The Yale Record says:—"The lack of means for the organized and systematic study of the Bible has long been felt at the college. We are glad to be able to announce that this want has now been filled. Professor Northrop has consented to undertake the instruction of a class in the study of the Scriptures, and his experience and ability in this direction assure success to the undertaking. Professor Northrop has the thanks of all who are interested in the movement for his consent to assume the somewhat laborious duties which his position involves."

The Christian at Work says:—"Once a union meeting for prayer was held in an interior city in this state—we may as well say it was Schenectady—and the chapel was crowded. Finally, in response to a call for five-minute addresses, a good brother rose—such brethren somehow always are excessively good—and 'went' for orthodox doctrine on everlasting punishment. There was a future punishment—he admitted that—and would even call it by the old name, hell. But there was a door to it that could be opened; there was time and opportunity for repentance, there was restoration to happiness for all the citizens of Inferno. Then he cited chapter and verse, and wound up by a challenge to any other brother to disprove what he had said, or to prove the correctness of the orthodox position. Then followed a period of silence. Finally, old Dr. Nott, then past four-score, bent with age, and his hair as white as the snow, rose and slowly and deliberately said:—'The brother who spoke last told us of a way to heaven that leads through hell. Those that want to try the road to heaven via hell may take it if they choose but as for me, I am going to heaven by the direct road, and I advise others to take that road too. Let us pray.'"

SOCIAL.

The members of the Newport Catholic Literary association held a very successful social in their hall in Exchange building last night. About eighty couples were present who had a most enjoyable time. Dancing began at half-past nine and at twelve o'clock the dancers repaired to Bryer's dining-rooms where a supper awaited them. This being disposed of the party returned to the hall where dancing was continued until the small hours of the morning. The floor was under the direction of Mr. G. E. Leddy aided by Mr. D. Sullivan and Mr. T. Mahoney. The following gentlemen composed the committee of arrangements:—Messrs. P. Galvin, P. Boyle, J. Sullivan and C. Sullivan.

REV. C. W. WENDTE.

Rev. C. W. Wendte, of Cincinnati, now has under consideration the unanimous call to the Channing Memorial Church, and from letters received from him by Rev. Mr. Schermerhorn and Mr. Brooks, the probabilities are strong that he will feel it both his pleasure and duty to accept.

The following is an extract from an article which appeared in Monday's Cincinnati Commercial:—

An adjourned meeting was held at the Unitarian Church yesterday afternoon to consider the resignation of Rev. C. W. Wendte as pastor of the Unitarian Society, which had been laid over from a previous meeting. During the past week the trustees of the church and other members have tried to induce Mr. Wendte to withdraw his action, take a six months' leave of absence, and, in accordance with the unanimous desire of the society, remain their pastor. Acting under the advice of his physician, Mr. Wendte has regretfully declined to do this.

The meeting yesterday was presided over by Judge Fayette Smith. A series of resolutions were reported by the trustees, in which an acceptance of their pastor's resignation was coupled with many appreciative and affectionate expressions concerning his work for the church and the community at large.

At their request, Mr. Wendte will take a brief vacation in Florida, accompanied by his mother, returning in time for the Easter services.

The society, though not a wealthy one, has always been very generous toward their pastor, giving him in addition to his salary of $3500 a year and two months' annual vacation many gifts of various sorts as testimonials of their appreciation and esteem. On Monday of this week, after accepting his resignation, they presented him with $1000 for his trip in Florida, and will besides continue his salary and supply his pulpit during his two months' absence.

TONIGHT AT THE OPERA HOUSE.

Mitchell's Pleasure Party will play the musical extravaganza "Our Goblins" this evening. The St. Louis Globe Democrat contained the following:—

Mitchell's Pleasure Party, decidedly the best comedy musical company on the road, opened to a fine house last night at Pope's and gave a splendid entertainment. The piece is in two acts and replete with fun and good music excellently done by a company of more than the usual merit. Mr. Wm. Gill, an old favorite here, is at the head of the company, and in conjunction with Messrs. Wilson, Forrester, Norcross, and the Misses Deering, Carson and Barrie send the audience away with sides aching from merriment.

THE FORBES-GRISWOLD WEDDING.

A very fashionable wedding occurred in New York, Thursday afternoon, the high contracting parties being Miss Minnie Emmet Griswold, daughter of Mr. John N. A. Griswold, and Mr. John Murray Forbes, Jr. The four groomsmen, who served first as ushers, with the assistance of Messrs. Campbell and Bacho Whitlock, were Messrs. F. Augustus Whitlock, George Griswold, Jr., Edward Emmet and Robert Hone, Jr. Miss Annie Emmet, cousin of the bride; Miss Grace Minot, of Boston; Miss May Duncan and Miss Sallie Marie acted as bridesmaids. Rev. Dr. Potter, pastor of the church, united the youthful pair. The bride was given away by her father. She wore a white satin dress, trimmed with point lace, and she carried a bouquet of white flowers. The bridesmaids were attired in gauze dresses and also carried bouquets of white flowers. A very large number of invitations had been extended to friends. After the services at the church, a reception to the young friends of the bride and groom was held at the residence of the former's parents, Madison avenue. Numerous costly presents were received by the bride. The ceremony occurred at Grace Church. Pinard furnished the collation.

NAVAL WEDDING.

Lieutenant Bradley A. Fiske, U. S. N., was married Wednesday night at St. Thomas's Church, New York, by the Rev. William F. Morgan, D. D., assisted by the Rev. William Allen Fiske, LL. D., father of the bridegroom, to Miss Josephine Harper, daughter of Mr. J. W. Harper. Lieutenant F. August Miller, U. S. N., was best man. The bridesmaids were Miss Hazard, Miss Vernam, Miss Felton, Miss Bloodgood, Miss Ashley and Miss Maxwell. They wore white satin dresses, with tablier of Spanish lace, cut square at the neck and trimmed with Spanish lace. They carried Leghorn hats, filled with pink roses. The bride wore an elaborate costume of white brocade and plain satin, the front veiled with row after row of point lace. Her veil was of point lace and extended to the end of her train, which was of full court length. Her bouquet was of white lilacs and lilies of the valley. The following gentlemen were ushers:—Mr. William Armitage Harper, Mr. James Thorne Harper, Lieutenant A. B. Speyers, U. S. N., Lieutenant Jacques, U. S. N., Past Assistant Surgeon Siegfried, U. S. N., Mr. W. H. Nestrant, U. S. N., Mr. R. M. Doyle, U. S. N., and Assistant Surgeon D. M. Gnilorns, U. S. N. The naval officers were in full uniform. Among the guests were Rear-Admiral and Mrs. Cooper, the Misses Cullen, Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Barnell and Miss Barnell, Mrs. T. Henry Barnell, Mr. and Mrs. Waldron, Mr. John Hone, Mr. and Mrs. Van Duzen, Mr. and Mrs. Root and Miss Root, General Slocum, Mr. and Mrs. Maxwell, Mr. James D. O'Keefe, Mr. Hazen, Miss Harriman, Mr. and Mrs. Platt.

LITTLE COMPTON.

LIGHTHOUSE.—A petition is in circulation praying Congress to erect a light-house at Seaconnet Point. The need of such a structure has long been felt by mariners, partly as a means of avoiding the dangerous rocks and reefs of this locality, and partly as a guide to a safe and commodious harbor in the bay. Within the last twenty-five years, six large vessels with valuable cargoes have been wrecked on this point, and there have been many more since the day when that gallant privateersman, "The Prince Charles of Lorraine," met her doom on the cruel rocks of Seaconnet.

PORTSMOUTH.

The tenth annual Masquerade Ball was given in Eureka hall on Wednesday evening. About forty couples came together, a few of whom were from out of town. At the commencement of the festivities a large proportion of the dancers were in costumes with masks, but the great discomfort of these caused them to be soon removed, and by ten o'clock not a mask was to be seen. The costumes were varied, a few were pretty, even rich, but most were of the grotesque order, and transformed the wearers so that it required shrewd observation to recognize them. Spink furnished the music, and they tripped the "light fantastic" until half-past two. The affair was conducted under the efficient management of a committee of arrangements, composed of Messrs. John T. Gardner, George Wyatt, and John Levi Tallman.

A HUNT DINNER.

The Hunt ball took place Wednesday night at Delmonico's, in New York. The club dined at 7:30, and afterwards adjourned to the ball-room. The gentlemen were dressed in pink. Mr. Center Hitchcock led the german. On the table were full-sized floral saddles and spurs made by Klunder. The guests who danced the german were Mr. Charles Peters, Mrs. James M. Waterbury, Mr. G. Lorillard, Miss Iselin, Mr. Frank R. Appleton, Miss Gertrude Hoyt, Mr. John Sanford, Miss Cheever, Mr. George Work, Jr., Miss Belle Wilson, Mr. Center Hitchcock, Miss Lucy Work, Mr. Herman Oelrichs, Miss De Ruyter, Dr. J. O. Green, Miss Robbins, Mr. Samuel Sands, Mrs. Samuel Sands, Mr. Belmont Prady, Miss Hilda Oelrichs, Mr. Lloyd S. Bryce, Miss Sarah Bewitt, Mr. Richard Mortimer, Miss Marie, Mr. James M. Mortimer, Miss Kernochan, Mr. Ladenburg and Mrs. Lloyd S. Bryce.

A Maryland girl of fourteen years has just married her second husband, who is sixteen. Her first husband was sixty-five.

GENERAL ASSEMBLY.

PROVIDENCE, FEBRUARY 17.

Senate.

The Senate was called to order by His Excellency Governor Littlefield at 11.10 o'clock.

Mr. Seabury, from the Committee on Engrossed Acts, reported as truly and rightly engrossed, "An Act to incorporate the Machine Printers Beneficial Association of the United States." Passed.

Mr. Seabury moved that all business in the Senate be sent to the House under a suspension of rules and it was so ordered.

Mr. Doyle said he had been requested by several Senators to ask that the committee on education inquire into the cost of having the proceedings of both houses of the General Assembly phonographically reported, leaving out, perhaps, some of the speeches, in order that printed reports of the proceedings of the preceding day may be laid on members' desks each morning. Mr. Arnold said Senators might be very thankful that all their remarks did not get into print. He said the newspaper reporters have frequently to save us from ourselves.

Mr. Seabury presented sundry accounts of E. L. Freeman & Co. against the state for printing, amounting to $39 68. Referred to the joint standing committee on accounts and claims.

House resolution authorizing Horatio W. Allen and others to build a wharf at Grace's Cove, Block Island, was referred.

House act providing for the appointment of Superintendent of Schools in Newport was referred to the committee on education.

Mr. Doyle, from the judiciary committee, reported back an act in amendment of Chapter 191 of the Public Statutes "Of the Terms of the Supreme Court and the Court of Common Pleas, and the Adjournment Thereof." Referred to the committee on engrossed acts. Subsequently Mr. Seabury, from this committee, reported the act as truly and rightly engrossed, and it was passed.

Mr. Handy of Warren, offered a resolution instructing the committee on the revision of the constitution to consider the subject of biennial sessions of the Legislature. Referred to the joint select committee on constitutional changes.

House.

The House met at 11 o'clock, Mr. Speaker Sanborn in the chair.

The resolution making an appropriation to defray the expenses of entertaining the French visitors during their recent visit to this state was ordered communicated to the Senate under a suspension of the rules.

Mr. Sheffield introduced a bill for an act in amendment of Chapter 179 of the Public Statutes, "Of the Jurisdiction of Probate Courts and License to Sell Real Estate." The bill relates to the deposit, withdrawal and cancellation of stock certificates, bonds, etc., belonging to the estate of a deceased person, and the jurisdiction of Probate Courts in the matter. It was referred to the Committee on the Judiciary and ordered printed.

Mr. Taft, in accordance with previous notice, introduced a bill for "An Act to Provide for the Inspection of Mill and Reservoir Dams."

The bill was referred to the Committee on Judiciary and ordered printed.

Mr. Shove, on behalf of the Committee on Finance, presented the annual appropriation bill. The appropriations recommended, with some slight exceptions, are the same in amount as the appropriations which were made last winter for the year 1881. In addition to the salaries (which are fixed by law), the following sums are recommended:—For the General Assembly, $15,800; for judicial expenses, $61,300; for the public schools, $60,000; for the State Reform School, $9000; other educational expenses, $2000; for public printing and binding, $11,000; for military affairs, $23,000; court houses and jails, $2000 jails and jailors, $1500; fuel and gas, $3000; rents, $3500; law library, $500; state library, $200; R. I. Historical Society, $500; orders of the Governor, $1000; State Board of Health, $1500; care of public buildings, $5050; free public libraries, $2000; Board of Charities and Corrections, $70,000; miscellaneous expenses, $11,000.

As there seemed to be a desire to secure the passage of the bill before the proposed recess next week, the bill was referred back to the Finance Committee for final report, and the committee was authorized to sit during the session of the House. Subsequently upon recommendation of the committee, the bill was passed and ordered communicated to the Senate under a suspension of rules.

The resolution of adjournment over next week, as it came amended from the Senate, was then taken up.

In the discussion that ensued, Mr. Sheffield stated that there was not enough business in the House at the present time to occupy its attention for more than one or two days. He spoke in favor of the resolution.

After the discussion had been continued some time in a desultory way, Mr. Sheffield moved to lay the matter upon the table. A call of the House was ordered and resulted in the tabling of the resolution by a vote of 34 to 21.

Mr. Sheffield gave notice that the joint select committee on constitutional changes will give a public hearing on Tuesday next at 1.30 o'clock P. M.

The House then adjourned.

THE CAPE COD FOLKS.

The libel suits against A. Williams & Co., the publishers of Mrs. McLean's novel of "Cape Cod Folks," are actually coming to trial, entered at Plymouth by Adelaide A. Fisher (Adelaide of "strangely sweet and rapturous voice"), Lucretia Nightingale (Lydia of "refined face and melancholy dark eyes" or, perhaps, Aunt Tempy, the exhorter). Stanton C. Fisher (Grandpa Staunton Fisher, who looks, at 80, like "a man o' 30" when dyed for Sunday school), and Cynthia Cahoon (Aunt Cynthia, matron of "portly frame and perilous foothold"), residents of "Cedarville"—a place the existence of which was denied by the depot master at West Scussit, who said:—"That's no Cedarville that I know of: that's a Cedar-swamp some miles up yender"—the parties said to be alluded to in the original edition of the famous novel. Sensible people on Cape Cod, while being very sensible regarding the satire upon the manners of the Capers, are sorry that the suits have commenced, because, as they dread, in the hands of a tonguey and gifted attorney, many much more ludicrous things than those uttered will be brought out. It is hard to see how identity can be established, unless the courts adopt the principle of the Maine judges in the Garcelon case, and admit that "evident intention" answers all purposes—judging by construction, as good old Judge Wells said on a certain occasion; "I am really in Boston, but constructively in Middlesex county." These offended people at the Cape have, in all probability, been induced to make these prosecutions by pettifoggers, like Dodson & Fogg in the case of Bardell vs. Pickwick, and if they do not succeed, they will find their advisors as hard as were those shrewd managers upon the widow. The case, or cases, entered at the superior court, Plymouth, may, at the option of the defendants, be carried directly to the supreme court. The damages claimed by the respective parties are placed at $5,000. But if the suits are based upon the literalness of the names, which does not appear, can dead people bring a suit? The following is the last paragraph but one in the book:—"A little more than a year after I left Cedar Swamp, I heard of Grandma and Grandpa Fisher's death. 'Very quiet and peaceful,' they said concerning grandma, but I had known what a death bed hers would be. Grandpa Fisher followed her. I had it from good authority that he kept about the house till the last. There was a rainy spell, and he stood often gazing out of the window with a lost look on his face; and once he said, with a wistful broken utterance and a pathetic longing in his eyes, that did away forever with any opprobrium there might have been in connection with the term, that 'it was getting to be very lonely about the house without ma pesterin' on him.'"—[Boston Cor. The Right Rev. T. F. Hendricken, Roman Catholic bishop of Providence, now in this city, is a most zealous worker for the spiritual and temporal welfare of his diocese. For the last few years he has devoted himself especially to the work of building a new cathedral at Providence. This building, now nearly completed, will be one of the finest churches in New England. What is better, the work on it is all paid for as it is done, and there will be no burden of debt resting upon it at its completion. During the last years of the pontificate of Pius IX. Bishop Hendricken was affectionately received by the Pope and remained at the Papal Court for some time. He is a personal friend of the Bonaparte family. One of the Baltimore Bonapartes was christened and the other married by him. Bishop Hendricken is a graduate of Maynooth College, Ireland, and is a scholar of excellent attainments.—[New York Tribune.

Skill in the Workshop.—To do good work the mechanic must have good health. If lung hours of confinement in close rooms have enfeebled his hand or dimmed his sight, let him at once, and before some organic trouble appears, take plenty of Hop Bitters. His system will be rejuvenated, his nerves strengthened, his sight become clear, and the whole constitution be built up to a higher working condition. 1t6

GREAT CONFLAGRATION.

The City of Haverhill, Mass., Nearly Destroyed by Fire This Morning.

Almost the Entire Shoe Manufacturing District Wiped Out.

Four Thousand Operatives Thrown Out of Employment.

Two Firemen Killed by a Falling Wall.

Special Despatch to the Daily News.]

HAVERHILL, Mass., Feb. 18.—A fire broke out in the leather store of E. P. Wentworth on Washington street in this city at 11.45 last night and burned until 6 this morning. The local fire department soon found that the conflagration was too great for it to hope to extinguish, and appeals for aid were sent to Lawrence, Newburyport, Lowell and other neighboring towns. Engines were sent from several places. The fire spread, however, until the First National bank, the Merrimac bank, and many other buildings, comprising nearly the entire shoe-manufacturing district, were laid in ruins.

The whole territory from Washington square to the Boston and Maine depot is a mass of smouldering ruins.

Seventy-five buildings in all have been burned down. The loss will be over $2,000,000, and 4,000 men will be thrown out of employment.

Nearly all the manufactories in the city with their machinery and engines were destroyed.

Two firemen, named St. Germain and Whittier, were killed during the progress of the conflagration by a falling chimney.

LATER.—The loss is now estimated at more than two million dollars.

Just as the fire was under control Joseph St. Germain was killed by a falling wall. He was a member of Eagle Hook and Ladder Company.

Men are already at work clearing away the debris.

There is no panic. Everybody is hopeful, and the city will be rebuilt and in a few months herself again.

The wind was blowing fresh from the northwest. There was a scarcity of water, and the freezing of the hose made it difficult to manage.

Several parties are reported missing. Nothing definite is known concerning the extent of the loss of life. J. M. Storer and H. B. Foster were in the South Block when the roof fell in, but they managed to escape.

No business is being transacted today. Everybody is at the ruins.

Five alarms were sounded and despatches immediately sent to Lowell, Newburyport and Lawrence for assistance. Engines came from all.

Weather Indications.

Special Despatch to the Daily News.]

WASHINGTON, Feb. 18, 12 M.—For New England, fair weather, northerly winds veering to easterly, stationary or higher temperature, rising, followed by falling barometer.

GOSSIP.

What is gossip but the patent sign of vulgarity in heart and mind? Intellect that never rises beyond the small mean facts of personal history, fluidity which cannot keep to itself what has been told even in confidence, and that goes about swelling molehills into mountains, can claim no respect, make out no case for itself against the decree of gross, vile, stupid vulgarity recorded against it. It is as thoroughly vulgar as is curiosity; and between prying into things with which we have no concern, and retailing gossip which is no business of ours to handle at all, there is not a hair's breadth to choose. Each is equally the sign of utter and entire vulgarity; and if one is the bull's-eye, the other is the gold. But both are faults to be found growing as rank as weeds by the wayside, and it would be hard to count upon one's fingers among our largest circle of acquaintance those who are absolutely free from the vice of gossip and the vulgarity of curiosity. So, too, intensely vulgar is that habit of talking people over indulged in by some who have all the outward seeming of thorough breeding. There are houses where one goes where the rule is to discuss, not always amiably, all those guests, misnamed friends, who have just left after the dinner is over or the soiree has come to an end. Just as there are people who make it rule to discuss, also by no means amiably, the host and hostess who have this moment entertained them, all the arrangements made in their honor, and all the guests who have been invited to meet them. There is no shame felt by these queer "friends," these now hosts and now guests, because there is no sense of kindness received or hospitality displayed. The thing is only a social bargain, a quid pro quo involving no delicacy, because devoid of all sincerity. It is a mere social form like saying "Dear Sir" to a man for whom you have no regard, and signing an insolent letter "Your obedient servant," or a false one "Yours faithfully." So many dinners for so many, and then the account is squared. What never does come quite square is the amount of ill-nature that serves as the chasse café when all is done, and the guests fall foul of the hostess and the hostess sneers at the guests. It is only one step lower in the scale than that other act of vulgarity—criticising you to your face—in which so many people indulge. It is not the least well-bred of the two who accepts the annoyance quietly, and forbears to retaliate with the same weapons or different ones. Indeed, quietness and gentleness and the dignity which can bear unprovoked assaults without apparent annoyance, yet without craven submission, count among the very antitheses of vulgarity. Would that we had more of such good breeding in the world! As good grain chokes out the rampant weeds, so would tempers of that kind choke out the vulgar peevishness which "shows a spirit" at every turn, as well as that still more vulgar insolence which provokes it.—[The Queen.

Five Hungarians who arrived in Boston on Thursday by the steamship Austrian refused to be vaccinated, not understanding English or the purpose of the operation. Finally one was held by four or five police while the port physician vaccinated him, and then the others submitted peaceably.

RESOLUTIONS OF RESPECT.

At a meeting of the Robert Emmet Association (Clan na Geal) held on February 15th, the following resolutions were unanimously adopted:—

WHEREAS, It has pleased Almighty God in His infinite wisdom to remove from our midst our beloved brother, Martin Kennedy, therefore, be it

Resolved, That while bowing in humble submission to the divine will of Him who rules over all, we deeply deplore the loss of a worthy brother who was a true friend to Ireland, the freedom of which he always earnestly worked for.

Resolved, That we tender our heartfelt sympathy to the family of our deceased brother, in this the sad hour of their bereavement.

Resolved, That as a tribute of respect a copy of these resolutions be presented to his family, and that they be also recorded in the minutes of the association, and published in the Irish World and Newport Daily News.

There is a Balm in Gilead.—The success which has marked the introduction of Cream Balm, a Catarrh remedy, prepared by Ely Bros., Owego, N. Y., is indeed marvelous. Many persons in Pittston and vicinity are using it with most satisfactory results. A lady down town is recovering the sense of smell, which she has not enjoyed for fifteen years, through the use of the Balm. She had given up her case as incurable. Mr. Barber, the druggist, has used it in his family and commends it very highly. In another column a young Tunkhannock lawyer, known to many of our readers, testifies that he was cured of partial deafness. It is certainly a very efficacious remedy. Price 50 cents.—[Pittston, Pa., Gazette, Aug 15th, 1879.

A GERMAN AT PIERRE LORILLARD'S

A german was given Friday evening by Mr. and Mrs. Pierre Lorillard, in their house in Fifth avenue. About two hundred and fifty persons were present. Lander's orchestra of sixteen pieces furnished music. The hall, heavily furnished in carved black walnut, was relieved by masses of ferns, palms, camellias and red and white azaleas. The dancing took place in the new ball-room in the rear of the house, which is finished in light woods. Long panels of roses, eucharis, callas, camellias and other flowers marked the line about the room where the yellow satin panels and the wainscotting met. Gilt vases filled with yellow roses, violets and eucharis hung from the chandeliers around the room. Large masses of pink bougainvillea blossoms were used here and there. The music balcony was faced with roses, callas and lilacs. Rustic stands and vases of acacia blossoms, nun's-hood, orchids and tulips were also set about the rooms. The floral work was by Hodgson.

ARMY AND NAVY NOTES.

Lieut. William P. Randall and Gunner William Chaney have been placed on the retired list of the navy.

General Sherman, accompanied by General Poe and Colonel Morrow of his staff, will leave Washington on the first of March for a tour of inspection of the departments of Texas, New Mexico, and Arizona, visiting all the principal posts on the frontier of those states. A visit will also be paid to the Yosemite Valley and San Francisco. The trip will occupy eight or ten weeks.

Maj. W. A. Rochester was yesterday confirmed by the Senate as paymaster-general of the army with the rank of brigadier-general.

There was a "surprise party" last Saturday night in which the members of the party were the ones who were particularly surprised. Miss Esther G. is a popular and charming young lady of St. Clair street, and a party in her honor and for her pleasant surprise was gotten up by some friends. An enterprising young gentleman who was not invited, but who is quick at expedients, invited the young lady to accompany him to the theatre. He called for her at 7.30 o'clock, and a half hour later the company appeared. Of course they failed to find Miss G. at home, and three and a half hours of a dreary monotonous wait ensued, and by the time the recipient of the "surprise" arrived, Sunday was so close at hand that the festivities were brief. Thus did the young man who was left in the cold freeze out his adversaries.—[Cleveland Herald.

Garibaldi's illness has sadly changed the old hero. The principal physicians of Naples visited him the other day, and he enjoyed the surprise of their arrival. He at once recognized Professor Tommasi, the eldest of the group, and exclaimed, "O Professor Tommasi, I am pleased to see you again!" The professor was so moved at seeing Garibaldi's condition that he burst into tears, and even the other physicians had to conquer their emotions before proceeding to the consultation. When they took leave of Garibaldi, after deciding that every day one of their number should repeat the visit, the general's first thought was of Italy. "I wish," he said, "that before I die I could again render some service to my country."

The Cox bill to promote the efficiency of the life saving service, reported favorably from the House Committee on Commerce, provides, among other things, for the establishment of additional life saving stations on the Atlantic coast, as follows:—One at or near Damarin Cove Island, Maine; one at or near Hunnewell's Beach, Maine; one at or near the entrance to Portland Harbor, Maine; one at or near the entrance to Portsmouth Harbor, New Hampshire; one on Cape Ann, Massachusetts; one between Cohasset and Scituate harbors, Massachusetts; one at or near Wood End and one in the vicinity of Peaked Hill Bars, Cape Cod, Massachusetts; two in the neighborhood of Nantucket and adjacent islands of Massachusetts. It provides that hereafter all district superintendents of life saving stations shall be disbursing officers and paymasters for their respective districts, and fixes the compensation of those superintendents in the Atlantic coast district as follows:—For the first district, embracing the coasts of Maine and New Hampshire, $1800 per annum; for the second district, embracing the coast of Massachusetts, $2000 per annum. It limits the compensation of keepers of life saving stations to $800 per annum, and provides for the conferring of decorations for acts of bravery in the saving of human life.

Senator Blair is mentioned as one of the most absent-minded of men. He was invited by Senator Davis to a dinner at Welcker's the other evening, and while walking in a dreamy manner along the corridor saw a merry party in a private dining-room and entered, Captain Eades, who was host, immediately making room for him. The Senator enjoyed the little dinner, and when it was concluded moved from the room with the others. Then there fell upon his ears the talk and laughter of another dinner party in the hotel. "What party is that?" asked the Senator. "Vice President Davis's, sir," was the reply. The Senator from New Hampshire pulled his hat down over his eyes and went home. The next day he apologized to Judge Davis for not being present at his party.

AN ACROSTIC.

When an esthetic young lady of town,
Made her way to the shops of renown,
Into Farrow's jewelry store,
Looking his Christmas goods o'er,
There his "too too" low prices she found.
Oh! then she cried, as she dimpled her chin,
Not too fast, Mr. F., but let us begin.

First of all, here are clocks for $1 or more,
And good timekeepers, too, "Are you sure?
Are you sure?"
Reliable watches, stem wind and stem set,
Remember! six dollars, the lowest price yet,
Oh! oh! oh! What forks and spoons, and Knives for butter;
Why, such ridiculously low prices are "too utterly utter!"

Only look at these napkin rings going at cost,
Plated and silver, with bead work and frost;
These are just lovely, "too beautifully too;"
In the light they now flash, they are so bright and so new.
Can you think of such prices for gold bands
and rings?
It seems that as presents, all are fond of such things,
And these chains and necklets—do tell me
the price?
Now that will suit Nannie, with locket so nice.

Just look at these charms, these pendants,
these pins,
Enough, Mr. Farrow, my head nearly spins,
With the goods, and the prices, your own
kind attention,
Each impression I now so æsthetically mention.
Leaves but one choice, with those who want to buy,
Each Christmas as it rolls around when time
is on the fly,
Remembrances, and other gifts, "thanks,
thanks, most awfully."

TO ANY PER

A FEARFUL NIGHT.

I was invited to a lunch party in one of the inland cities of Pennsylvania not long ago, and was much impressed by the appearance of one of the younger ladies present. She was not beautiful, but united the striking characteristics of a brilliant fresh complexion and a profusion of hair, white as snow, which was wound on the top of her head after the fashion of Madrazo's "Marquise," belonging to Mrs. A. T. Stewart. She was very merry, a good talker, and, I must confess, I contrived to occupy the larger part of her attention with that tendency towards monopolizing the best which the moment affords that I am told is often observed by my familiars.

After bidding adieu to the ladies, I turned to the obliging friend who had been my sponsor at these incidental gayeties of ——, and casually remarked, after talking somewhat of my new acquaintance:—

"By Jove, what hair! It accents her whole appearance. Wasn't she lucky to achieve it young?"

My friend removed his cigar.

"That depends on how you look at it. I am inclined to think, taking things by and large, that she was. I doubt, however, if she wouldn't say today that the price was rather large. And it was a pretty big price. Do you like stories? I'm minded to tell you one, if you like, about that white hair you admire so much."

We went over to the hotel and something like this my friend told me:—

You have no idea, you city people, the interest we country people take in the courtships of young folks. From the time Harry Wells began to side up to Mamie Clausen at church socials until their marriage in the First Presbyterian Church the entire community gave minute consideration to their affairs. Mamie's father, John Clausen, was and is now a prominent commission merchant, generally considered wealthy, and has always lived at least like a man of means. Mamie was pretty, dashing, a local belle and a great favorite. Harry's family lived a few miles from town, and they, too, are people of reputation in the county. Old Jack Wells represented us a few times in the Legislature and has accumulated in one way and another a handsome property.

The marriage was in every way a suitable one. Harry was educated at Princeton, and although he had at one time the reputation of being wild he had sobered down, and was at any rate such a frank, manly young fellow that he was generally forgiven any indiscretion.

As I say, the marriage was the occasion of general rejoicing. Mamie's father gave her an unusually good send-off, and the details were sent far and wide through the state. Harry had studied law, although he didn't have much natural inclination for it, the old man thinking his political experience might serve Harry in that way, and had settled down into a country notary, drawing up deeds and doing hack-work of that sort. They lived about four miles out of town, and two miles from old Jack's. He had built them a pretty modern cottage on a detached portion of his farm. Harry had his office, an ornamental little structure, a few rods from the house, and there they lived as happy as two birds.

Gradually Harry picked up business, and finally through his father he became trustee for the minor heirs. They were an odd lot of children, with a half-crazy mother and no end of coal lands and mining investments. It was a good thing for Harry, although it gave a naturally lazy man some additional work. The worst thing was that it obliged him to go to Scranton now and then and leave Mamie. You may imagine that there was a good deal of visiting at the house of two such popular young people, and that four-mile stretch of road was generally kept pretty warm. When Harry had to go away Mamie would get in her phæton and drive to town, and there was always some of the young people ready to go out and keep her company. Harry always insisted that she mustn't stay alone. For a law-abiding state we have a pretty rough element in it, and although we haven't had much to complain of here, there is a general sense of uneasiness.

One August afternoon Harry had an unexpected summons to go to Scranton about a suit connected with the minor heirs. He had recently sold some of their property and had been making various collections, which left in his hands about $4,500. When he found he had to go off at a few moments' notice he wrapped up a bundle of papers and this money and took them into the house. Mamie was making preparations for a picnic they were to go to the next day and I begged him to wait until the day after.

"But, my dear child, I haven't time even to go to town and put these in the bank, so you'll have to take care of them. I'll try and get back in two days at the furthest, meanwhile nobody will know that the money is here."

Then he explained to her the value of the papers and handed her a canvas bag, in which was the $4,500 belonging to the minor heirs.

"Where will I keep it, Harry? Between the mattresses?"

"Just like a woman! No. But I declare I don't know where to tell you. The most insecure place apparently is often the most secure. Any place, dear, but between the mattresses. I leave that to you. But you must guard it, if necessary, with your life, for remember the money is not ours, and at all hazards I am responsible. I don't really suppose there is the least danger, for no one knows I have it. But one ought to take proper precautions, and I beg of you not to admit any tramps while I am gone. Tell Sarah not even to allow them to stop long enough to eat a biscuit."

"All right, dear; we won't let the tramps have a drink even, and I'll take care of the money, you may be sure."

Harry bade his wife goodby and Mamie gave up the picnic. At the end of two days she received a telegram from him, saying that he had been detained and telling her to get some one to stay with her for two days, when he would be at home. She drove into town and one of her old friends went out with her. At the end of two days she had another telegram saying he was detained until the next day. Her friend went home, and in place of Harry came a third telegram, and so every day for ten days he was expected home, and every day came a disappointing telegram. By this time she had been accustomed to her charge, which she had set like a bag of seed-beans in a corner of a dark closet opening from her room.

The afternoon of the tenth day was a hot, murky afternoon. Mamie had gone up stairs to take a nap and refresh before dressing to meet Harry, who was expected home after the longest absence he had ever made from her.

After a time Sarah came up and told her there was a tramp down stairs who wanted something to eat and who would not be driven off.

"You oughtn't to leave him a minute alone, Sarah. Go down and watch him and I will come down and send him off."

She dressed herself quickly and went down stairs surprised to find how late it was. When she reached the kitchen she found also a messenger with another telegram which announced another disappointment, but the next day without fail, Harry wrote, he would be home. As Mamie turned into the kitchen she heard the tramp and Sarah in evident dispute.

"Yes," said the fellow, "when that time comes your mistress will have another ironing table, helping you, instead of wearing her Sunday clothes every day."

"An' spoilin' everything for me to do over. I think I see her. I've work enough to do," answered honest Sarah, not disposed to have a chat over her work.

Mamie found a graceless-looking fellow, unshaven and ill-dressed, who with a certain gentlemanly instinct rose up as she came in.

"I suppose my girl told you we had nothing for you, and that it will be a great kindness if you will leave as soon as possible."

"Yes, she did just that, madam, but I took it upon myself to believe it wasn't so urgent. The truth is, I'm very hungry and dead tired, and I didn't believe but that you would give me something to eat; at least I've waited to ask you in person."

Women are soft-hearted creatures. Mamie went and got him something to eat, herself. The darkness that had been increasing for some time came down rapidly and there burst one of those terrific thunder-storms that gather so suddenly and with such force in this country. After its strength was spent—and I remember that it was the most violent of the season—there fell steady sheets of rain that brought Rock Creek over the bridges before morning.

"Madame, it's no use talking. You can't mean to send a fellow out in such a storm," said the tramp as the three stood on the porch watching the storm.

"I'm sorry, but I've no place for you."

"What, in a house like this. It's a pity there isn't a cranny for a stowaway. I was walking around it, waiting for the girl, and it seems to me it ought to be able to hold three people."

"You are very impertinent. I tell you I have no place for you, and the storm is already breaking away."

As she spoke even the rain came down in blinding sheets, and lightning streaked the heavens.

"Well," he said carelessly, "we don't go much on manners on the road, but I know I wouldn't send a dog out such a night as this. I'm not a particular chap, leastwise not nowadays, and I'll have to insist on your giving me some sort of shelter if it's only your dog-kennel."

The man spoke with decision. Mamie felt that after all they were really in his power, and possibly it might be worth while to do civilly what she would probably have to do at last.

"I will keep you on one condition," she said. "There is a loft to the house, a sort of garret, which is very comfortable. It is closed with a trap-door, and you may sleep on the lounge there if you will allow us to lock the door on the outside."

"Bless my stars and garters!" he said, looking at her curiously, "I don't care when you lock the door."

They took him up stairs, and he climbed up the steep attic stairs. The women shut the door as he politely bade them good night, and they fastened the padlock, hearing him chuckle to himself as he kicked off his boots.

"I'd take the key, mum," said Sarah.

Mamie took the key with her and the two descended to shut up the house. After they had made everything secure they went back up stairs.

"You must sleep in my room tonight, Sarah," the mistress said. Sarah dragged in her bedding and made a pallet on the floor, and then, after the custom of women, they examined the closets, and looked under the bed and piled the chairs against the locked door. The rain was still falling heavily and the night was black as ink. The mistress and maid went to bed and, although anxious and worried, finally went to sleep.

After midnight Mamie found herself awake and a bright light shining in the room. She started up and saw that it was the moonlight. The storm had cleared away at last. She got up, unable to compose herself immediately, and went to the window. The moon was indeed shining brightly. As she stood looking at the peaceful scene before her she saw way down the road, for it was as bright as day, several horsemen. It was such an unusual sight at this hour that she stood watching them as they came nearer. To her surprise they turned up the lane leading towards their house and on reaching the gate came into the yard. Now, almost paralyzed with fear, she saw that they were masked. The truth almost blinded her. They knew that she was alone, that she had this money and they had come to get it. For a moment she was paralyzed. She remembered Harry's last words:—"You must guard it with your life if necessary."

She ran to the sleeping Sarah and awakened her. She got down Harry's rifle, which he had loaded and taught her to use. The sleeping girl was soon thoroughly awake, and she explained to her their condition.

"Its the tramps that's done it."

"The tramps. No. Sarah, the key, the key of the attic."

She drew up the stairs, unlocked the padlock and opened the trap. The man sprang at the sound.

"Come, come with me." His own senses alert, and hearing the noise of the horses below and steps about the house, he followed her without a word. At the foot of the stairs she stopped.

"I have a large sum of money in the house and those men have come to get it, thinking I am alone. If they kill me that money must be guarded."

"What have you, pistols, shot-guns?" he whispered, taking in the whole situation.

"Here is my husband's rifle. It is loaded."

"Hist. Where are they going to break in?" The steps came boldly on the piazza to the front door.

"Get behind me. I will fire at the first man that enters. How many barrels are there?"

"Six, all loaded."

"Very well. Keep this cane in your hand for me in case I need it."

There was no storming of shutters. They heard the key applied to the door softly. It opened and a man followed by two others confidently entered. The first figure walked directly to the stairs. He had taken but a step when three shots came in rapid succession. There was a heavy thud; this man dropped and the other two turned and fled. Sarah ran to the window and two horses galloped down the lane.

"Don't faint, madam; there's work yet to do," said the tramp.

Mamie caught hold of the rail for support and then went into the room. "Get a candle, Sarah."

They lighted a candle and gave it to the tramp, who went down stairs, the two women following with brandy and ammonia. The man had fallen backward and lay with his face up and head toward the door.

"Raise the mask and give him air first, madam."

Mamie raised the mask and fell back with a wild shriek.

"Do you want to know now why her hair is white?" he asked.

"It was Harry Mills!" I answered. "It was that sniveling, popular young scamp."

"It's no use to ask why he did it. I don't care. Motives don't matter in such a case. But she, Mamie—Mrs. Wells—she has her gray hair, but there is no trace of that midnight tragedy in her face."

"I believe she was ill for a long time," answered my friend. "They say small-pox cures one of other diseases. Well, some griefs are like the small-pox: they cure you of lesser weaknesses—tenderness of the heart, for example. This, I think, was one of them."

"And the tramp—"

"He and Sarah were of course the witnesses at the inquest. The next day he was off on his journey, and I have never heard of him since."

A great many men are like a rocking horse—they are always on the go, but never get ahead.

The Surgeon's Knife.

Wonderful Surgical Operation—Removal of Urinary Stones from the Bladder—Successful.

Mr. Simeon Tietsell, of Saugerties, N. Y., had been treated for seven years by various physicians for what they call Stricture of the Urethra; without benefit. He finally consulted Dr. David Kennedy, of Rondout, N. Y., who found his trouble to be Urinary Calculi or Stones in the Bladder. The doctor at once removed the foreign bodies with the knife and then gave his Blood Specific, "Favorite Remedy," to prevent their reformation. The entire treatment was eminently successful, and Mr. Tietsell's recovery was rapid and perfect.

While "Favorite Remedy" is a specific in all Kidney and Bladder diseases, it is equally valuable in cases of Bilious Disorders, Constipation of the Bowels, and all the class of ills apparently inseparable from the constitutions of women. Try it. Your druggist has it, and its cost is only one dollar a bottle. The lucky man is he who puts this advice in practice. Don't forget the name and address, Dr. David Kennedy, Rondout, N. Y. The Doctor would have it understood that, while he is engaged in the introduction of his medicine, "Favorite Remedy," he still continues the practice of his profession, but confines himself exclusively to OFFICE practice. He treats all diseases of a chronic character, and performs all the minor and capital operations of surgery. 17-1w-n&j

FISTULA AND PILES.

WILLIAM READ, (M. D. Harvard, 1842), and ROBERT M. READ, (M. D. Harvard 1876), have associated themselves together at 41 Somerset street, Boston, and give especial attention to the treatment of FISTULA, PILES, AND ALL DISEASES OF THE RECTUM, without detention from business. Abundant references given. Correspondence answered. Office hours—12 to 4 o'clock P. M. 19-3m-eod

A remedy with such a reputation as Hostetter's Stomach Bitters deserves a fair trial. If you are dyspeptic, your malady will eventually yield to it; if you are feeble, lack flesh and feel despondent, it will both build and cheer you up; if you are constipated, it will relieve, and if bilious, healthfully stimulate your liver. Don't despond, but make this effort in the right direction.

Winthrop Wrought-Iron Furnace!

Has been in use for the past seven years, and given entire satisfaction. I offer it to the public as the most desirable furnace on the market. Special attention is called to the new dust-flue damper and reversible flues, that are not found in the other wrought-iron furnaces. The dust-flue damper prevents escape of dust when shaking down; the reversible flues ensure the flames to sweep the entire surface of the wrought-iron drum, thereby securing much greater radiation of heat, and consequently a great saving in fuel. Cost less to keep in repair than any other furnaces. Are powerful heaters, with moderate consumption of coal. I have sold over 70 in this city. Sold by

POSITIVELY CURED BY

Benson's Capcine Porous Plasters.

Reasons Why they are Preferred to All Other Porous Plasters or External Remedies:

First.

Because they possess all the merit of the strengthening porous plaster, and contain in addition thereto the newly discovered powerful and active vegetable combination which acts with increased rubefacient, stimulating sedative and counter irritant effects.

Second.

Because they are a genuine pharmaceutical preparation, and so recognized by the profession.

Third.

Because they are the only plasters that relieve pain at once.

Fourth.

Because they will positively cure diseases which other remedies will not even relieve.

Fifth.

Because over 1000 physicians and druggists have voluntarily testified that they are superior to all other plasters or medicine for external use.

Sixth.

Because the manufacturers have received the only medals ever given for porous plasters.
